Court Approves Bills Over $12,000

Perry County Fiscal Court closed Saturday afternoon following a 5½ hour session after approving over $12,000 in current and back bills and leaving magistrates in a quandary over their salaries.

The meeting close suddenly when magistrates were read a letter by County Attorney C. A. Noble which informed the court that the matter of magistrate's salaries was still in doubt.

Due eight months of salary at $200 per month, magistrates today were attempting to work out some solution to the problem of their salaries. The difficulties stem from legislation enacted by the Kentucky Legislature at the last session which set a maximum of $200 per month on magistrates' salaries. The act is being contested in Kentucky courts.

While the meeting closed when magistrates left, the minute book of proceedings was never signed. One magistrate, contacted today, said he was certain magistrates would sign the book, and thereby, open the door for payment of the bills.

The problems stems from the fact that the Court of Appeals has never handed down a ruling on the salary question.

Bills approved by the court are as follows: Standard Printing Co., $689.98; Herald Publishing Co., $1010.00; Sparks Printing Co., $1030.36; Roy Johnson, $40.53; Roy Johnson, $161.12; Babe Noplis, $89.90; Courtney C. Industry Forecasts Increase In Soft Coal Production

Washington — Bituminous coal production in the United States is expected to rise to 455 million tons in 1959, an increase of 13.8 per cent over this year's output, the National Coal Association estimated today.

NCA's Committee on Coal Economics and Statistics forecast that coal consumption will increase 8.1 per cent, to equal production, in contrast to this year when many consumers reduced their coal stockpiles and used more coal than was mined.

163 Million For Utilities

The committee predicted that 163 million tons will be mined next year for electric utilities, an increase of 7.1 per cent for the nation's largest consumers of coal.

The steel industry, already back to its 1957 production rate, is expected to consume 105 million tons of coking coal in 1959, an increase of 36 per cent from this year.

Other industrial use of coal is expected to gain 1.4 per cent, to 106 million tons. Some users, such as cement manufacturers who will benefit from the multi-billion dollar highway program, will increase their demand for coal; others, such as railroads, will continue as a declining market, the committee said.

The forecasters said the retail market is expected to take 30 million tons of coal next year, 3.6 per cent less than 1958 but a smaller decline than in most post-war years.

Export Market Difficult

The market for export coal is more difficult to forecast because of "political overtones" in consuming countries, the committee said, but exports are expected to decline 8.9 per cent, to 46 million tons. It forecast a 23.1 per cent increase, to 16 million tons, in coal sales to Canada, but a 20 per cent drop in overseas shipments, which are expected to be 30 million tons.

Total 1958 production is expected to be near 400 million tons.

Santa Claus letters are pouring into the Hazard Herald's office. Get your child's letter in as soon as possible so that it may be published in the big, Christmas edition of the Hazard Herald.

Jail Escapee Turns Self In

Claude McDaniel, a Leslie Countian under sentence of two years who escaped the Perry County jail last month, turned himself over to Jailer Charley Maggard, Friday morning.

McDaniel walked into the second floor wall.

Perry County jail with his uncle from Cutshin.

Still at large is Burchell Brown, sentenced to five years for storehouse breaking.

Brown and McDaniel broke out of the jail Nov. 27, using a hacksaw to cut the bars and then digging a hole through the Fire Department Collecting Toys For Families

New and used toys for needy families are now being collected at the Hazard Fire Department. Fire Chief Lawrence Sizemore announced today.

Toys should be taken immediately to the fire department so that they may be painted and repaired in time for Christmas.

Sizemore said the toys will be distributed to needy families in Southeast Kentucky.

The city fire chief also issued an appeal for volunteers to make clothing or provide clothing for dolls.

Sizemore said that the fire department is receiving dolls but that clothing is needed for them.

Collection and distribution of the toys, food baskets and items of clothing in Perry County this Christmas is being sponsored by the Hazard Junior Chamber of Commerce instead of the Salvation Army.

Harold G. Wells

Harold G. Wells, Attorney, Opens Law Practice

Harold Garland Wells, Lexington attorney, has returned to Hazard to make his home and engage in the practice of law here.

Wells, son of Judge Courtney Wells and Mrs. Wells, was born and reared in Hazard. He was graduated from Hazard High School in 1944 and spent the following two years in the armed forces in the Pacific during World War II.

He received his A. B. in 1953 and LL.B. in 1955 from the University of Kentucky where he was a member of Lambda Chi Alpha social fraternity and Phi Alpha Delta legal fraternity.

After graduating from the U. K. College of Law, Wells spent a year and a half as a law clerk in the court of appeals in Frankfort. For the past year he has been employed by the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company as claims adjuster. He is married to the former Miss Helen Cline, of Lexington. They have one child, Elizabeth Ann.

They will be at home at 728 Eversole Street.

City Provides P. O. Parking

Parking for Post Office patrons is now available on the river side of Main Street across from the Post Office, City Manager Hobert Wooten reminded the public today.

Wooten noted that parking meters have been removed and that five-minute parking is in effect for Post Office patrons.

He said the new parking method appears to be remedying the problem of Post Office parking.

Previously, Post Office patrons were parking directly in front of the Post Office and bottle-necking one lane of traffic down Main Street.

Combs, Breathitt, Hindman, Hazard-Tourney Favorites

The Eighth Annual Hazard Invitational Tournament—this year a "spectator tournament" because of the draw—opens here Wednesday night with the finger pointed at Hazard, Hindman, Breathitt County and Combs Memorial.

Anyone of the four favorites could leave the floor following Saturday night's finals at Memorial Gym in possession of the trophy that last year was captured by the Hazard Bulldogs.

The schedule of games is as follows:

Upper bracket: Wednesday, December 10; first game, Hazard vs. Fleming-Neon, 6:30 p.m., followed by second game, Carr Creek vs. Hindman.

Lower Bracket: Thursday, December 11, first game, M. C. Napier vs. Combs Memorial, 6:30 p.m., followed by second game, Breathitt County vs. Leslie County.

Upper Bracket, semi-finals, 7 p.m., Friday, followed by lower bracket semi-finals.

Finals, Saturday, 8 p.m. No consolation game will be played.

Could Be Largest

From the standpoint of the results of the drawing, the tournament could attract the largest attendance ever in its eight year history. In the upper bracket, the Carr Creek-Hindman tilt teams two traditional rivals. In the lower bracket openers, Combs Memorial and M. C. Napier, cross-county rivals, pair out in their first meeting of the year in a game that should rate high in local interest.

If everything goes according to the book, the semi-finals will see Hazard meeting Hindman in the upper bracket and Combs Memorial re-matched against Breathitt County in the lower bracket.

Best In 14th Region

All four teams are regarded the best in the 14th Region this year.

Coach Pearl Combs' Hindman quintet ran into trouble at the start of the season, but has been on the victory trail ever since. Hazard in four outings is undefeated.

Combs Memorial has an 8-2 record with one of the losses coming at the hands of Breathitt County earlier this year at Jackson, 65-59.

For basketball fans, the tournament offers the ripe opportunity of seeing some of the 14th Region's top school-boy talent in action. Breathitt County features the "Galloping Guards," Larry Back and Bob Deaton, both of whom are averaging over 20 points. Against Owsley, Back hit 42 points.

Begley Paces Combs

Combs Memorial features the sharp-shooting of Farmer "Bo" Begley, who along with Back is among the region's contenders for All-State honors. Hazard's scoring power is concentrated in three points-getters, 6-7 center Bennett Jent, and forwards Ken Cobb and Joe Baker. Hindman scoring punch is provided by Carl Gibson, a six foot junior forward and Guard Paul Conley.

Officials for the tournament are Warren Cooper, Morehead, and Charles Hughes, Wayland. Price of admission at the gym is $1.00 per person.

Mr. Jim Miller, 88, Claims by Death

Mr. Jim Miller, of Grapevine, died at the age of 88, Dec. 7 at his home.

He is survived by his wife, Eliza, and one sister, Nancy White, Grapevine.

Funeral services will be tomorrow at his home on Grapevine with the Rev. Ed Campbell and Willie McIntosh officiating. Burial will be in the Mudlick Cemetery at Grapevine.

The Engle Funeral Home will be in charge of arrangements.

Izzo Concert Receives Enthusiastic Reception From Local Audience

by Fred Bullard

A rich baritone voice and a warm stage personality won the hearts of local concert-goers last Friday evening as Bernard Izzo opened the twentieth season of the Hazard Community Concert Association.

Mr. Izzo's program was well-chosen and included selections which were pleasing to the various musical tastes in the audience. His aria group included Tchekalov's Aria from "Boris Godunov" by Mussorgsky, "O Du Mein Holder Abendstern" from Wagner's "Tannhauser," and "Se Vuol Balare" from the "Marriage of Figaro" by Mozart. The entire group was well received and particularly the Wagner selection. Also well received was a group of Four Sea Chanties, and a group of four songs from the "American Negro Suite" by Harold Arlen.

The audience was quite obviously appreciative of the broad range of Mr. Izzo's voice and his excellent control of it. From ringing fortissimos to barely audience pianissimos, every word was clear and distinct.

Mr. Izzo, as well as many in the audience, recalled a visit to Hazard about four years ago, when he appeared with a group in a presentation called "In Opera Time."

He was generous with his encores and concluded the delightful evening with a well known favorite "The Blind Ploughman."

Mr. Izzo's accompanist, David Burk, drew much applause with his presentation of Liszt's "Hungarian Rhapsody No. 6." He played a Chopin Nocturne as an encore.

The Bullock Construction Co. is double-shifting on our Town Mountain Road. I can hear those Bull Dozers going tonight. Their slogan should be, "We Move Mountains In a Short Time," because they really get things done. You know, I believe that with those big Bull Dozers, they could move Blue Grass down to the Hazard Yards in a week's time.

Another Victory for Lewis

Well, I see where John L. Lewis scored another Homer at the age of 78, another $2-day raise plus $200 Vacation Pay. "Boy, Oh Boy", What a Boy! And, you know that "Protective Clause", may cause grief to some of the small truck mines of Dist. 30. One fellow from Leslie County told me that they would organize, but not in the manner that most of Perry County was, Push and grunt for six to eight dollars a day, and pay dues, and not get the price specified in the Contract.

Well now, perhaps we can get re-organized, as we were in the first place. I am hoping that in the new U.M.W. of A. Contract that after fifteen years of mining that a miner can retire at age 50, with $150.00 Mo. Pension, so he can spend a little while with his family before he dies with Silicosis. If he is lucky and doesn't get killed accidentally, and I also hope that the Hospital Cards taken from widows of deceased miners are restored, they need them awfully bad.

Happiness is best attained by learning to live each day by itself. The worries are mostly about yesterday and tomorrow.

Statement of John L. Lewis December 3, 1958

Under the authority and with the approval of its National Policy Committee, the United Mine Workers of America has today executed the National Bituminous Coal Wage Agreement of 1958 with the Bituminous Coal Operators' Association. The contract speaks for itself. It carries forward and preserves the terms and conditions of the National Bituminous Coal Wage Agreement of 1950, as amended effective October 1, 1956, and contains in addition thereto certain amendments and supplements, summarized as follows, viz:

1. A $2.00 per day wage increase applicable to all inside and outside classifications, of which $1.20 is effective January 1, 1959, and the additional 80 cents is effective April 1, 1959.
2. A 14-day vacation period, and a vacation payment of $200.00.
3. A "Protective Wage Clause" to correct the manifestly detrimental effects on our membership of subcontracting, the production and procurement of coal under sub-standard and de-based wages and working conditions, and other similar operator practices frequently found in the bituminous coal industry today.
4. A firm contract for one year, terminable by either party on or after November 30, 1959, by a 60-day no-

The wage and work standards, job opportunities and other benefits to which our members are now contractually entitled have been achieved only after long and arduous years of experience in the coal fields. The present and future welfare of the men who daily risk their lives in this most hazardous of industries demand that these standards, opportunities, rights and benefits be maintained, protected and safeguarded by contract. This the Union seeks to accomplish by the terms of the Protective Wage Clause, which is to be administered by a Joint Industry Contract Committee of 6, divided equally between the parties and to be selected within the next thirty days.

Because of their indulgence in and frequent fostering of such evil practices, and perhaps because of some small attendant costs which may be involved in their elimination, the Coal Operators have been loathe to admit these practices and to consent to their correction by contract. Reluctantly they today make their confessions and agree to "go and sin no more."

We are confident that the terms of this contract are reasonable ones, calculated to maintain the living standards of our members and to bring continuity and stability of employment. Certainly these things are much to be desired and are definitely in the public interest. Accordingly, we believe that time will serve to assuage the presently ruffled spirits of the Operators and that they will soon come to realize and publicly admit that this contractual recognition of their employees' needs and their reasonable demands, gauged by all modern standards, is fully justified and morally right. Since the signatory captive mine Operators consume their own entire output of coal and are not engaged in the commercial field, the Protective Wage Clause is not included in the contract as executed by them.

The bituminous coal industry as a whole, with the assistance of the Mine Workers, has made many forward strides in modernizing its mines and adopting more efficient mining methods—thus ever increasing its per man per day output and lowering its costs of production.

MUST WE GO TO CHURCH TO BE CHRISTIANS?

You've probably heard people comment at times on the fact that their Catholic neighbors go to church so often. Perhaps you have wondered... is all this necessary?

Catholics, you may be sure, have good reasons. Going to Mass on Sunday is, of course, an obligation for every Catholic. Confession and Holy Communion at least once a year are a sacred duty. But most Catholics go to Confession and receive Holy Communion oftener.

There are also many other special services and devotions for which Catholics go to church. In the average city, the Catholic Church is always open—and seldom empty. Many will enter the church at any hour of the day to visit Jesus Christ present on the altar, mindful of His invitation: "Come to Me, all you who labor and are burdened, and I will give you rest."

Catholics believe that Christ not only called upon us to honor and serve God... but prescribed the ways in which we should do so. He did not say how often we must go to church... nor how many prayers we were to recite. But He did establish a Church with the power and authority to carry on His work... and He promised that His Church would last to the end of time—that it would have God's protection in teaching all men to observe all things He had commanded, especially to believe and to be baptized and thereby become members of His Church to attain the purpose of their lives.

And how do Catholics know theirs is Christ's Church?

Because it possesses the distinguishing marks Christ gave His Church. It covers the earth as Christ said it would. Unchanged after nearly 2,000 years, it continues to live and grow.

But the most convincing mark that He gave it is its unity of faith, worship and obedience under the authority of the lawful and historical successor of Peter, the first Bishop of Rome and the "rock" upon which Christ built His Church. Just as Peter was the first Pope and the first Vicar of Christ, so also is Pius XII the 262nd Pope and the Vicar of Christ today.

If you would like to know more about the distinguishing characteristics which Christ declared His Church must have and which the Catholic Church possesses today, write for Pamphlet KY-2. It will come in a plain wrapper—and nobody will call on you.

Hazard Beats Napier, 77-46; Throttles Whitesburg, 75-36

The Hazard High School Bulldogs rolled to victories No. 3 and 4 over the weekend, ripping apart Whitesburg, 75-36, on the Yellowjackets floor, Friday night, and M. C. Napier at Memorial Gym, Saturday evening, 77-46.

In neither game were the Bulldogs pressed. Against the Yellowjackets, the Bulldogs leaped to a 26-10 lead in the first quarter and left the floor at halftime ahead 46-18.

Paced by Forward Ken Cobb with 18 points and Forward Joe Baker and Center Bennett Jent with 17 points each, Hazard was on top at the end of the third frame, 69-24.

High for Whitesburg was Charles Stamper with 12 points.

Hazard, 77; Napier, 46

Coach Goebel Ritter's Bulldogs kept the loss column clean here, Saturday night, with a one-sided, rough and tumble 77-46 victory over cross-town rival M. C. Napier.

It was the second consecutive loss in five outings for the charges of Coach Pete Grigsby, and Hazard's fourth win in as many encounters.

Napier, plagued by fouls, lost five men on infractions, including Olin Hurt and Derlan Shelton, Napier's scorers for the evening with 9 points each. The Bulldogs lost their top scorer on fouls when Center Bennett Jent retired to the bench in the fourth quarter after connecting for 14 points.

Twenty-nine fouls were called against Hazard and 34 against Napier.

The Bulldogs took a 17-10 lead at the close of the first quarter, and in the second quarter exploded for 26 points while holding Napier to five markers.

Hazard was on top at the end of the third frame, 60-28.

Impressive for Hazard in the rebounding department was Walt Greene who hauled in 22 rebounds.

Playing in a reserve capacity for Jent on and off throughout the tilt, Greene was a demon under offensive and defensive boards.

Lincoln's Family Not 'Poor White'

The assertion by some biographers that the Kentucky Lincolns, family of Abraham Lincoln, were "poor whites" has been denied by the chairman of the State Lincoln Sesquicentennial Commission.

"Undoubtedly, they were poor, and most certainly they were white, but they were not 'poor whites' as this term is generally understood," says Chairman W. T. Townsend, a Lexington attorney, Townsend continues:

Samuel Lincoln, first American ancestor of the President, migrated from England to Massachusetts in 1637. From that time, all of the Lincolns were landowners, wherever they went.

The President's grandfather, Capt. Abraham Lincoln of the Virginia Militia, sold his Shenandoah farm and took possession of 1,200 acres in Kentucky. He was ambushed and killed by an Indian in 1786. His son, Thomas, father of the Great Emancipator, owned two farms when he married Nancy Hanks in 1806 and was able to take his bride to a home in Elizabethtown.

After he reached manhood, Thomas Lincoln never lived in a home not his own.

He was not a ragged vagabond standing beside Nancy Hanks on her wedding day. Store records show he paid $175.10 for a wedding outfit. Not many backwoodsmen of the day were married in "store clothes."

With their children—Sara, born at Elizabethtown, and Abraham, born near Hodgenville—they were poor, but their poverty wasn't degrading. Thomas Lincoln has been called shiftless and improvident, but records show the family had the respect of the community.

They belonged to the Little Mt. Baptist Church. Thomas, who worked at carpentering, served on juries, paid his taxes when due, was at one time a peace officer and a road overseer and surveyor.

First Kentucky Treasury Was A Small Box

Over the long haul, Kentucky's attention to history has been spotty. No state is recognized as having a richer past, but few states have paid less systematic attention to their histories.

The first treasury box authorized by the Kentucky Legislature is a case in point. Preserved in the state museum in Frankfort is a small mahogany box which served as the deposit box in the early days. It illustrates as nothing else can do as well the change which has come over American life. Where as today, the money of the Commonwealth is distributed among several banks throughout the state, this box, no larger than the average family's strongbox today, held at one time the funds of Kentucky.

In 1929 this valuable relic was transferred from private hands to the state museum in the Old Capitol building. Thanks to the Cantrill family of Scott County, Kentucky's first treasury was preserved.

John Logan, the first treasurer of Kentucky and the first custodian of the little treasury box, served his state for 15 years, from 1792 to 1807. Yet, today, John Logan, like so many early Kentuckians, is a forgotten man. No concentrated effort has been made to dig this important public official out of the dusty pages of the past, and, consequently, we know almost nothing about his life. When and where did he live? Is he, for example, the same John Logan who was second in command at St. Asaph in 1779? Kentucky's first treasury box can be looked at in two ways. First it is a curious item, like an exotic animal at long last tracked down and caged in a zoo, an item which is most important for its entertainment value. Who can believe that Kentucky's money could have ever been compressed into such a very small box?

ROWDY

'Good Hunting' For Deer Is Reported

Everyone enjoyed the Deer Hunt at Rowdy. Mr. Goebel Watts killed a fine Deer, Leonard Watts also got one too; Jess Engle got a thirty-five pound one; Shelby Engle won the Blue Ribbon, he got one weighing 250 pounds. It sure was a fine one. I saw it.

Mr. Wilgus Neace was home from school through Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchel Noble and family of Louisville spent Thanksgiving with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jordon Noble.

Arnold Campbell is spending this week with his sister, Mrs. Aaron Duff of Prestonsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Noble of Chicago were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Goebel Watts over the week-end.

Mr. Don Noble left Sunday for Louisville.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Duff of Prestonsburg were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jordon Noble over the week-end.

Miss Fay Campbell of Louisville visited Mrs. Jordon Noble during the Thanksgiving holidays.

State Waters Have Prehistoric Fish Species

Several species of fish dating back to prehistoric times are found in Kentucky, says the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

In an article in Happy Hunting Ground, the agency points to the paddlefish and the long-nosed gar specimens as existing in the period before written history.

The shark-like paddlefish, having smooth and scaleless skin, possesses a head which is a long paddle-like snout. Though very large—five to six feet long—the paddlefish feeds entirely upon plankton, floating aquatic animal and plant life. These minute organisms are strained by many comb-like rakers inside the fish's mouth. The meat of the fish is good and the roe, or eggs, is used in caviar. Not too much is known about the reproduction of this species.

FALSE TEETH

That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their false front teeth have popped out at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEREETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Check "false teeth" (denture breath). Get FASTEREETH at any drug counter.

The long-nosed gar, some specimens measuring five feet or more, is found in the majority of larger Kentucky streams. The body is elongated and protected by a hard armor-type skin. In his mouth are hundreds of needle-like teeth, which aid in catching and holding small fish, mainly minnows, which are the gar's food. The head tapers to a long thin nose that is very bony. While edible, the flesh of the gar is not very tasty and the roe is poisonous to man.

Mining Congress Elects President

Concluding two days of sessions in New York City, the American Mining Congress elected Raymond E. Salvati, President, Island Creek Coal Co., Huntington, W. Va., President of the American Mining Congress, succeeding Howard I. Young, President, American Zinc, Lead and Smelting Co., St. Louis, Mo.

Salvati has been active in the work of the Mining Congress for many years. The American Mining Congress, which represents all branches of the mining industry, maintains its headquarters in Washington, D. C. It has promoted modernization and mechanization of mines throughout the country for a great number of years and has recently completed its 60th year of service to the mining industry.

The Mining Congress also elected as Vice Presidents of the organization Andrew Fletcher, President St. Joseph Lead Co., New York; Robert C. Jackson, Associate Managing Partner, Pickands Mather and Company, Cleveland; and Clyde E. Weed, Chairman of the Board, The Anaconda Co., New York.

Howard I. Young, the outgoing president of the American Mining Congress, had served as its chief executive for 25 years. The membership of the Mining Congress honored his long term as President by a rising vote of acclamation and by the presentation of a plaque in which the Board of Directors expressed their heartfelt thanks for his leadership in raising the stature of the organization in the eyes of the general public and the Congress of the United States.

The incoming President, Raymond E. Salvati, a graduate of West Virginia University, rose from a trackman to President of the Island Creek Coal Company, the nation's third largest producer and distributor of bituminous coal, in a relatively short span of years. Salvati has achieved a number of outstanding awards from the coal industry and from associated industries over the years, the most recent of which was the Horatio Alger Award for 1958. He is a director of the National Association of Manufacturers, the National Coal Association, the West Virginia Coal Association, and served in a similar position with the Bituminous Coal Research organization, and before being elected to his present post was a Vice President of the American Mining Congress. He is also a Director of the Mining Congress and the Chairman of its Executive Committee. His long experience in the mining industry will stand him in good stead as the chief executive of the industry's national organization. The American Mining Congress was founded in 1898 and has been recognized both in Congress and the Executive Departments as the principal spokesman on problems relating to mineral development and progress throughout the United States. Salvati has been an outstanding leader in the development of new mining practices and operating techniques both within his company and the mining industry.

The following mining executives were elected Directors of the Mining Congress for a three year term:

Merl C. Kelce, Pres., Peabody Coal Co., St. Louis, Mo.

F. S. Mulock, Pres., U. S. Smelting Refining & Mining Co., Boston, Mass.

Charles J. Potter, Pres., Rochester & Pittsburgh Coal Co., Indiana, Pa.

H. A. Sawyer, Pres., Lone Star Cement Corp., New York, N. Y.

Albert E. Seep, Pres., Mine & Smelter Supply Co., Denver, Colo.

Merrill E. Shoup, Pres., Golden Cycle Corp., Colorado Springs, Colo.

Harrie S. Taylor, Pres., Oglebay Norton Co., Cleveland, Ohio.

W. P. (Bill) MORTON

Every once in a while I find myself feeling sorry for the common nail. Here's a piece of rounded metal that is probably holding more things together than all of the women's corsets combined, and, yet, no one pays any attention to it. Except for the human foot, nothing on earth has changed as little as the nail in the last 1,900 years. The Romans—who are also remembered for whipping up an exciting game known as "Run-Sheep-Run," only with lions instead of sheep—invented the nail.

The British picked up the nail idea from the Romans, and, in turn, polished off the rough edges, flattened the head and started measuring nails in "pennies"—so many English pennies per 100 nails. It made for a better nail, of course, but the British pretty well took the glamor out of it by hardening the metal so that there was no more excitement in wondering whether the nail would split down the middle and wrap itself around your thumb when you drove the hammer home.

You just can't live dangerously at all any more—unless, of course, you're a pedestrian. Now at Home Lumber Co., we handle nails... all sorts, sizes and varieties, but we handle a great many more things too! In fact, we have a complete line of fine, high quality materials suitable for every purpose from a henhouse to a mansion on the hill. We have all the services too! Planning, estimates, expert advice, contractors and financing. Stop in and look us over. You will be very welcome. After all, we like people.

Tri-Levels Have Easy Living

Tri-Levels make for spacious, convenient living. Here's a plan that exemplifies the best in tri-level planning.

The entrance passage way provides access to all parts of the house. The main level contains the living area with picture windows on each outside wall. Also, a sliding glass door to private terrace.

The activities room features wood paneling and a floor-to-ceiling brick fireplace, dining nook, china cabinets flanking the door.

The living room offers enjoyment of both outside and inside planting and in the passage way a "hall feeling" is eliminated with art shelves on each side of the wrap closet.

It is only 7 steps up to the central hall of the sleeping wing. The two large bedrooms both have corner locations with cross ventilation provided by sliding windows. The third bedroom has excellent wall space and a big closet with sliding doors. A full vanity bath is accessible to all three rooms.

From the ultra modern L-line kitchen, it is only 5 steps down to the lower level which is strictly utilitarian. It contains a separate laundry room, a lavatory, storage and heater room and a self-closing door to the garage.

This contemporary design of frame and brick construction is a great dollar value and merits careful study.

This plan conforms to general FHA, VA and Building Code requirements. The plan contains 1,399 sq. ft., 18,806 cu. ft., and 303 sq. ft. in the garage. Your builder or material supplier can give you the average cost per square or cubic foot in your area.
